BEAL CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Newsletter Date July, 2016

THE AGGIE EXPRESS

We would like to congratulate the Class of 2016 on their outstanding academic accomplishments. This class had one of the highest combined class grade point averages and Top Ten grade point averages in school history with about 50% of the class making the honor roll each marking period.

This class' academic success did not stop in the classroom. Their standardized test scores were some of the highest we have seen here at Beal City Public Schools. The class of 2016's standardized test scores were higher than the state and national averages with the highest composite ACT score since the state began testing all students in the early 2000's.

All of this academic success has paid off hugely for the 58 members of the Class of 2016 as they have earned almost $700,000.00 in Merit and Scholarship money. Congratulations to the Class of 2016!!!

Staff Member of the Month

The Beal City Board of Education, in appreciation of the hard work that is done by all members of Beal City Public Schools, would like to honor one staff member each month for their service to the students and community of Beal City. This month's honoree is Jodie Atkinson.

Jodie has worked in the kitchen for 16 years. Her three children graduated from Beal City and she is now a Grandma to two beautiful little girls. Jodie is very hard working, a wonderful asset to the team in the kitchen and puts her best foot forward in every situation. Thank you Jodie for all that you do.

Millage Renewal Up for Vote in November

At the general election on November 8, 2016 taxpayers will be asked to renew the district's operating millage. This millage was originally passed in June of 1999, renewed in 2004, 2008 and again in 2012.

The proposal will authorize a millage rate of 19.3909. However, the district cannot levy more than 18 operating mills in any given year. Simply approving 18 mills does not allow the district to levy the 18 mills for more than one year. Due to a law called Headlee, the operating millage is often "rolled back" each year as the law is designed to limit the increase in the operating tax levy to the increase in the consumer price index.

Operating millage is not paid on home or farmland. Operating millage is levied on non-homestead property only.

You may be questioning why the district is levying any operating millage. Doesn't the state fund our schools, not local property tax? The state assumes that each school district in the state of Michigan is levying 18 mills of local property tax on all non-homestead property. Therefore, the state decreases the amount of state funding based on the levy of 18 mills of local tax. For the 2016-2017 school year the state assumes that Beal City Public Schools would have to figure out a way to operate with $254,000 less.

We understand that you, as a taxpayer, are facing the same economic times as the school district. Costs continue to increase, putting more of a strain on the family and district budget. When considering your support for the millage proposal please keep a couple things in mind. Operating millage is levied on property classified as non-homestead. Passage of the above proposition would not affect tax bills for primary residences (homesteads) or qualified agricultural properties. Properties that would be affected include commercial/industrial property, apartment buildings, rental homes, vacation property and vacant land. In addition, this is not a new tax, rather it is a renewal of a millage approved by the voters in 2012, 2008, 2004 and 1999. This renewal will have little effect on your current taxes. For a business property with taxable value of $200,000, the tax would cost $3,600 ($200,000/1,000 X 18 mills), similar to what you are paying today.

It is extremely important that the district be allowed to levy this operating millage. Please consider supporting this millage proposal on November 8th.

CAMP HAYO-WENT-HA WEEK 2016

Beal City Elementary fourth, fifth, and sixth grade students arrived back at school from Camp Hayo-Went-Ha on May 6th very tired, but also full of fun stories about their adventures. All the kids had a great time. The zip-line, like every year, was a hit with all the kids. Fourth graders took a day trip over to Sleeping Bear Sand Dunes to learn about dune ecology and play in the sand. Fifth graders spent time at Grass River learning about the river eco-system. As for the sixth graders, they were able to climb the pamper-pole, and build their own shelters in the woods. The kids learned a lot, had many new experiences, and made memories that will last a lifetime. We would like to thank the PTA and the other community members who made donations for camp. All students that wanted to were able to attend.

HELPING CHILDREN

Understand Autism

Since one in every 68 children is diagnosed with autism, your child is likely to encounter a number of children with the disorder. How you respond to your child's questions significantly impacts your child's understanding of this complex disorder, as well as his or her acceptance of individuals with different abilities. Here are some suggestions to help your child understand autism.

Be honest. If you don't know a lot about autism, tell your child that you don't know but are willing to find out. Take advantage of your child's curiosity and seek resources to help. Many children's books explain autism in a way that young children can understand. Websites contain helpful information for children, parents, and providers.

Know that every child is different. Autism is a spectrum disorder, so no two children with autism are alike. A child with autism might have areas of exceptional talent, as well as areas of deficit. Help your child understand that autism presents itself in variable ways.

Put a positive spin on it. Be careful not to describe individuals with autism as lacking in some important way. Focus on the positive and describe what your child can do to help. For example, say, "Tony is an excellent artist. You can talk about his drawings with him by asking him specific questions."

When relaying an area of challenge for the child with autism, help your child relate to the experience. You might say, for example: "Remember how it was hard to hear me at the airport over the background noise? Tony is hearing all of the background noises in the classroom and has difficulty paying attention to just your voice. Why don't you sit down and face him when you talk to him?"

Talk to the child's parent. Ask the parent for suggestions about how to help your child to interact in a way that will engage the other child. You can also learn about the child's interests and then share suggestions with your child about conversation starters.

Parents of children with autism seek good peer role models for their children in order to improve their language and social skills. Finding willing peers to interact with their children is challenging, so this could be a good opportunity for your child to be a good influence.

Encourage interaction. If the child acts out or must leave a play date early, reassure your child that this does not mean that he or she did anything wrong. Schedule future play dates so that your child can see the positive effects of his or her interactions over time.
